Lovejoy Road Resident Helps Apprehend Alleged Kidnappers

By Linda S. Corbett

An Andover man ran out of his Lovejoy Road home late Monday night in response to a woman's screams for help, then fired the shots that disabled the vehicle of the men she claimed had kidnapped her in Boston.

Andover police said yesterday that Henry Lebensbaum, 32, of 46 Lovejoy Road, was attracted by screams coming from Whiffletree Circle, and rushed to the scene with his 38-caliber revolver.

He shouted warnings to the two men, and as the woman escaped, Lebensbaum fired a round of shots at the car. At least three shots hit the car, with one puncturing the right front tire.

The two abandoned their car after the tire went flat, and fled to Route 495, where they were picked up by Tewksbury police.

Arraigned in Lawrence District Court Tuesday, on charges of aggravated rape, kidnapping and assault with a dangerous weapon, were Jeffrey D. Willis, 18, of 1 Carriage Shop Road, East Falmouth, and Timothy J. Brushett, Jr., 20, of 229 Reservoir St., Norton. Both pleaded innocent to the charges and their case was continued until tomorrow.

Bail was set at $10,000, or $1,000 cash, each.

According to Andover police, the 21-year-old woman, from New Jersey, was staying at a hotel in Boston and visiting friends.

She told them she was walking on Tremont Street about midnight, Monday, when a car stopped at the curb and she was pulled inside, between the two men. She claimed she was assaulted by one of the men as they drove up I-93 to the Dascomb Road exit. When they stopped on Whiffletree Circle and one of the men got out of the car, she slipped out behind him and started screaming for help. A scuffle ensued and Lebensbaum appeared on the

Committee May Reconsider Pagoda Roof Design

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Design development of the entire $11.72 million school building program has been completed, and will be presented to the school building committee tonight for the committee's "final stamp of approval," committee Vice Chairman Richard Landry said yesterday.

While reviewing those plans, the committee may also take another look at plans to top the new Instructional Materials Center (library) at West Junior High with a pagoda-shaped roof, Landry said.

"In light of all the uproar in town over plans for the pagoda, there is some possibility that we might go back and look at those plans again," he explained.

Architects from Perley F. Gilbert Associates of Lowell have completed plans for converting Doherty Elementary School into a junior high, including renova-

Planning Comes First

Selectmen Set Their Priorities

The central maintenance concept, a revised gravel removal bylaw, and reuse of East Junior High School have been designated the selectmen's top priorities for the coming year.

After recently developing a list of goals and objectives for the next year, the selectmen Monday night agreed on which goals will be given top priority, and which will be done only if time and the budget permit.

Listed in order of priority, the remaining goals of the selectmen which are already in progress, are developing a comprehensive plan, the proposed Route 93 interchanges, solid waste disposal, and selectmen's policies.

The town manager suggested that "land use questions are the most critical" aspect of comprehensive planning, followed by the development of a capital improvement program for the town.

"I suggest we hire a part-time intern who can pull together a financial capital improvement program," Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said.

"This would not be a comprehensive, new program, but what I'd call a quick and dirty update and revision of previous capital improvement programs," he explained.

The manager further suggested that the selectmen deal with the matters of Route 93 interchanges and solid waste disposal as they come to the board's attention.

These items have been given a lower priority because there is little the selectmen can actually do to influence them, Selectman Susan Poore pointed out that "Solid waste and the 93 interchange are creatures of the state and federal government."

Under the category of new items for the selectmen to work on, top priority was given to the development of Ballardvale, safety code violations in town buildings, police and school relations, the wetlands bylaw, and fair housing.

Although it has been given a high priority, correcting code violations in all town buildings will not be accomplished within the year because funds have not been by budgeted for that purpose, Clark said.

Under the category of administrative follow-up — that is, those matters to which the selectmen would like the town manager to give his attention — highest priority was attached to reviewing the Department of Community Development and Planning, computer implementation, completion of the school building program, and reorganization of the police department.

A year from now, when the selectmen evaluate his performance, the town manager's accomplishments will be compared against to these goals and objectives.

Town House Topics

"Watch" Group Will Include A Chamber Rep.

The newly-formed Community Watch Committee will be expanded to include a Chamber of Commerce representative, the selectmen decided Monday night.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said he would appoint a Chamber member to the new committee, which has been created to administer and increase a $100,000 grant to the town to help fight crime and vandalism. The grant was an anonymous gift to the town donated earlier this year.

The Chamber of Commerce requested representation on the committee, Clark said. The selectmen agreed unanimously with Selectman Norma Gammon that Chamber participation on the committee was "an excellent idea."

Other members recently appointed to the seven-member committee are Police Chief James Johnson, School Supt. Kenneth Seifert, the Rev. Reginald A. MacDonald, Pamela Mitchell, Robert L. Merrill, and Selectman Susan Poore.

Town-Owned Lots Get No Bidders

The auction of two small town owned lots off Essex Street attracted no bidders last Friday.

The selectmen had approved the auction, setting the minimum bid price at $24,000.

Selelctmen Chairman James Abramson had expressed an nterest in buying the land to expand his business, Capital Distributing, according to Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark.

Other industries in the adjoining Dundee Industrial Park were also reported to be investigating the possibility of bidding for the land.

However, no bids were received, andthe land will remain town property, Clark said Monday.

Road Race For Cancer Society Gets Approval

The selectmen granted a number of licenses and permits during a special meeting in town hall Monday night, which was followed by a conference session.

Permission was granted for two blok parties: at Matthew Street, from 1 to 8 p.m. on Aug. 2; and at Beech Circle, from noon to 10 p.m. on August 31, with a rain date of Sept. 1.

A one-day all-alcoholic beverage license was granted to the Christian Formation Center, River Road, for a high-school reunion from 3 p.m. to midnight on Aug. 23.

One-day auctioneer's licenses were granted to Herman Hurwitz of Newton Center for the sale of oriental rugs at the Sheraton-Rolling Green from 7 p.m. to midnight Aug. 25, and to Joel Shapiro of 12 Ivy Lane for the sale of oriental rugs at the Rolling Green Aug. 18.

Bay State Gas Co. was granted permission to excavate in a sidewalk at 487 Lowell St. to install a new gas service.

And with the selectmen's approval, a 6.2 mile road race will be held Saturday, Nov. 15, to benefit the American Cancer Society, starting at Phillips Academy. The same race was held last year, with the route approved by Police Chief James Johnson.

Fifteen Drawn For Jury Duty

The selectmen drew the names of 15 residents for jury duty during their Monday night meeting.

The residents include: Miriam Kate Gordon of 16 Florence St., Ruth E. Collins of 406 Longwood Drive, Mark F. Hinds of 207 Haggetts Pond Road, Donald E. Gaudet of 44 County Road, Alexander P. Gioia of 19 Flint Circle, Herbert F. Kearn of 146 Chandler Road, Esther B. Pelletier of 38 Farrwood Drive, Frances R. Secord of 27 CheeverCircle, John J. Ely of 174 Jenkins Road, Robert M. ABC Seeks Host Families For Students

Andover ABC is seeking host families for some of its 11 students who will be returning in the fall.

Andover ABC is part of a national program that provides disadvantaged, but academically motivated students, with a good high school education, to help them better achieve their academic potential and so on to college.

The students who attend Andover High live in a dormitory on Main Street with a resident director and family, two tutors, and the financial support of a large number of Andover residents. They return to their homes during the summer.

A student visits his or her host family on a regular basis, one weekend a month, every Wednesday after school until 8 p.m., and during either the February or April school vacation.

Qualifications for a host family include an understanding of teenagers, a sense of humor and a commitment of time. In return, the family gets the enriching experience of being with young people from urban settings and varied cultural backgrounds.

Families interested in the opportunity to host a student are asked to contact Mrs. George Bixby, 17 Stinson Road.

Gallery Joins In Jubilee

The Andover Gallery is joining in Boston's celebration of Jubilee 350 with an exhibit of antique and contemporary prints, tomorrow through Aug. 29.

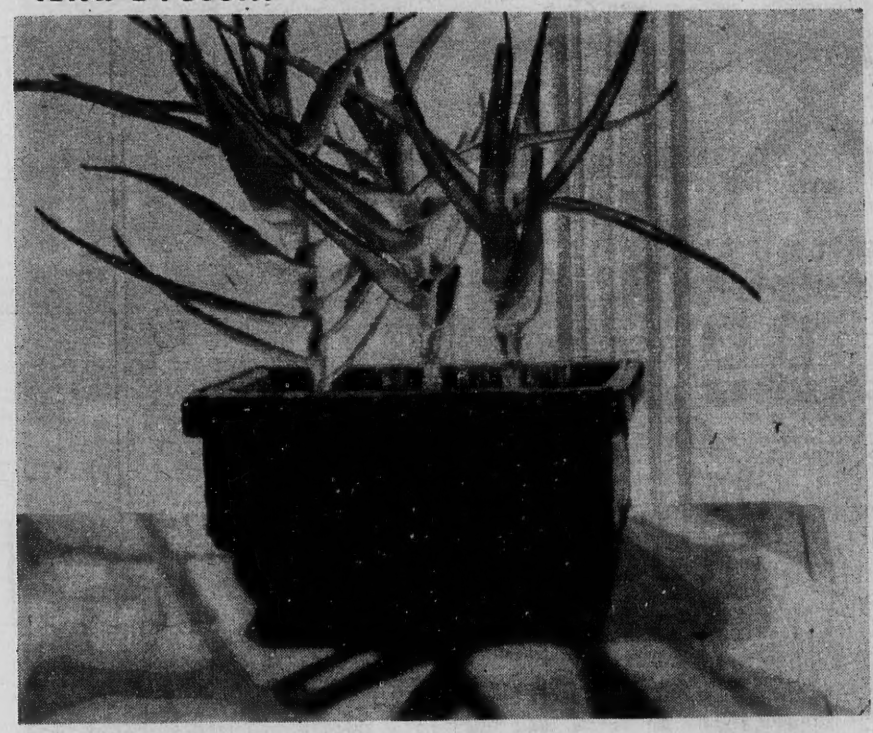
The antique prints on the third floor of the gallery, at 91 No. Main St., cover a wide range of work, including wood engravings by Boston's own Winslow Homer, etchings by Currier & Ives, C.R. Grant, J.L.G. Ferris, W.L. Lathrop and others, chromolithographs by Prang, and a selection of satirical political cartoons (1895) from the magazine "Judge." The humorous chromolithographs demonstrate how some things never seem to change.

The contemporary prints will include works by regionally and nationally known artists, including Ballou, Barnes, Katz, Pearlstein, Sullivan and others.

Gallery hours are Tuesday to Saturday, 9 to 5. The gallery, closed Sunday and Monday, is free and open to the public.

Art Past And Present

Among the prints on exhibit at the Andover Gallery, are a wood engraving by Winslow Homer, above, and a silkscreen by Anne Ballou.



"Education is ... hanging around until you've caught on."

FOR THE FAMILY WITH TOO MUCH MONTH LEFT AT THE END OF THE MONEY...A TAX CUT.

CONGRESSMAN JIM SHANNON'S 31 BILLION DOLLAR TAX CUT BILL IS VERY UNUSUAL . . . IT GIVES TAX CUTS TO PEOPLE WHO ACTUALLY NEED THEM.

It seems that all we hear about these days is tax breaks for the rich and aid for the needy.

Well, what about us poor saps in the middle who pay for all that?

Now, it's not that the so-called middle class begrudges "incentives" for industry and investment or desperately needed help for the less fortunate . . . it's just that "middle income" is getting closer and closer to "less fortunate" every day.

It's about time that the middle class money tree received some real nourishment. And we don't mean the kind of fertilizer that Washington has been shoveling our way in recent months.

What we mean is some real breaks. Like Congressman Jim Shannon's Tax Reduction Act of 1980.

Jim's tax reduction bill is not one of those big business give-aways that gives the working American nothing but promises.

But it is a tax cutting bill that works. For working people. Directly.

It's a tax cutting bill with a direct reduction in your tax rates.

It's a tax cutting bill that will ease the effect of inflation on your taxes.

And it's a tax cutting bill that will offset the coming increases in Social Security taxes, allow substantial tax cuts for small business, and give special tax incentives for New England's many high-technology industries.

Jim Shannon's Tax Reduction Act of 1980 is a direct result of his battle to get a seat on the powerful tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee . . . a remarkable victory for a first-term congressman, and a real break for the middle income wage earner.

Now a vote to re-elect your congressman is a vote for tax reform that finally makes sense.

Jim Shannon

A Congressman worth reelecting.

Paid for and authorized by the Shannon for Congress Committee, James Martin, Treasurer. A copy of our report is filed with the Federal Election Commission, Washington, D.C. 20463. Not printed at government expense.

Tax Relief Committee To Be Formed

Andover will join other communities working towards property tax relief in the state by forming a local property tax relief committee, the selectmen decided Monday night.

The Massachusetts Municipal Association has enlisted the aid of Andover officials in its fight to defeat Proposition 2½, a tax relief measure that will appear on the state ballot in November.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark told the selectmen that Proposition 2½ would cause "serious financial trouble for cities and towns if it passes."

The Municipal Association, in a letter addressed to Clark, also predicted "drastic reductions in service" if 2½ is passed in November.

Following guidelines proposed by the Municipal Association, the selectmen will appoint a citizen's committee to study the town's economy, consider the impact Proposition 2½ would have on the town, discuss alternative tax relief proposals, educate the community, and lobby the state legislature.

The selectmen will recruit interested representatives from all over the community, including residents from the business community, PTAs, the League of Women Voters, elderly groups and neighborhood associations.

Members of the school department, finance committee, and town staff will also be represented on the committee.

The Municipal Association has suggested that the committee not focus on just Proposition 2½, but look at the issue of property tax reform in general.

"Tax reform in Massachusetts is long overdo," Clark told the selectmen. "And trying to compromise with the state legislature has proved completely fruitless for the towns."

"Andover has to try to battle this, to lessen the property tax burden imposed by the state," the manager concluded.

The selectmen expect to organize the tax relief committee by the end of the summer, so that the committee may begin working in September and be ready to inform Andover voters about Proposition 2½ before the election.

Patent Awarded Engineer

R. L. Billings of 45 Bartlett St., Andover is a co-recipient of a patent issued by the U. S. Patent Office. Billings, an electrical engineer with Bell Labs, North Andover, shared the honor with three other engineers who are based at the research organization's Murray Hill, New Jersey facility.

The patent is for work in the area of Magnetic Devices including Amorphous Alloys. Billings, who is a graduate of the University of Rhode Island and Lehigh University, says that the invention may be used in the fabrication of many classes of Magnetic Devices requiring temperatures stable magnetic permeability, low Magnetostriction and high electrical resistance.

Plant Losses

Losers to plant disease were the people of Ireland in the 1840's and of California in the 1960's, among many others. In Ireland, a million people died of starvation and malnutrition because of potato blight. In California in 1965, brown rot disease caused peach growers to lose some $55 million.

News From The Playgrounds

Dynamic Duet

Kara Simko and Megan Sheehan sing a duet called "Time to Sleep" during a show the West Elementary Playground children performed for senior citizens from The Haven last Friday.

Sanborn

Week Number Six at Sanborn started off with practice for Good Sports. We practiced the shoe scramble, the stilt walking, three-legged race, dizzy izzy, and bubblegum blowing. All of the kids worked very hard at practicing their events. Tuesday we had fun doing soap carvings. Matt Haskell, Todd Blaustein, Michael Sintros, Steven Sintros, Karen Peddersen, Timmy Lin, Leigh Dellechiaie, Stephanie Gabriel, Mimi Bernardin, Richard Reilly, and John Scanlon enjoyed this crafts project.

Wednesday 35 playgrounders attended the annual Good Sports Competition held at the Doherty Playground. Our entire team worked really hard at their events. Some of our stars include Jeff Kuo, Stephanie Kuo, John Pike, Scott Eggert, John Bishop, Jeff Schaake, and Steve Devaney. All the time and effort the kids put into this really paid off. For the first time in history of Good Sports Sanborn was the champion team, winning first place. Everyone was happy and proud of their efforts.

Thursday we started the day off with a rousing game of softball. Since it was our last day to use the gym, we made the most of it with long and exciting games of battleball. We also made good use of our volleyball net. The craft for the day was tie-tye T-shirts. Friday we held our first annual pet show. Many prizes were awarded and everyone had a lot of fun. We ended the week with another terrific Sanborn cookout.

Ballardvale

Our special calendar was filled with many activities this week in Ballardvale. We started off the week attending a disco party hosted by South School. Our finest dancers were Colleen Sherry, Ann Mumane, and Amy Smith. The best costume awards were unanimously given to Lisa and Rejji Hayes. Wednesday was good sports day at Doherty School. Although we didn't win, everyone did their best. A few of our star contestants were Shannon Cassidy in the shoe scramble, Cindy Sherry and Kelly Conley in the egg toss, and Colleen Sherry who managed to lick all the chocolate off her donut without take a bite out of it, in the donut eating contest.

Thursday was our make-up day. All the girls did each others faces with eye shadow, rouge, and a number of different materials, which were their own inventions. A few of our lovely girls were Cathy Guilania, Melina Mills, and Leanna Mills. We finished off our week with a cookout and stuffed animal show. Our winners of the show were Ann Mumane and Shannon Cassidy.

South

South playground was off to a busy start this week. Monday, with the help of Billy Butler, Cheryl Hunt to cut out decorations for the disco day. Mike Bryson and Andy

Meckel also deserve credit for climbing on the chairs to hand up the "disco ball."

Kim and Karen joined us for our roller disco with all the kids from Ballardvale. Michelle and Nocole Gorton were great dancers and Betsy Frankenburger was a sensation on her roller skates.

Wednesday was Good Sports day and we'd like to thank everyone who participated especially Doherty for inviting us. Becky Barry, Cheryle Hunt, Walter, Peter, Kathleen Radulski, Nicole Gorton, Michelle, Billy and Janette Butler, Kim, Eliza, Andy, and Betsy Kurt and everyone else who participated — what a great job! I know we would have one the tug of war if everyone chanted oweee ohhha. Oh well, maybe next year.

Thursday was highlighted by a bus ride up town for bowling. Meanwhile the skeleton crew stayed home and paper mached and worked with gimp.

Friday was highlighted by our cook out and sprinkler party. Next week we're looking forward to Canobie Lake Wednesday and movies on Thursday.

West Elementary

The sixth week of playground proved to be another busy one filled with anticipation for Friday's show. Monday's soap carvings and rehearsals for the show highlighted the day, while Tuesday's activities included practices such as "The Rainbow Connection" sung by Sarah Perry and "Take Me Out To West Playground" sung by all the stars of the show. The making of colorful pencil holders also made Tuesday a fun-filled day.

A change of pace occurred Wednesday when all the playgrounds gathered for "Good Sports Day" at Doherty. The obstacle course, stilt walking, pie eating and the many more activities which everyone participated in Wednesday made Good Sports Day a day to remember. We would like to thank Doherty for hosting this day's events.

Softball started Thursday on a cheery note and the final dress rehearsal for our show ended the day with a smile for all those who are starring in it.

Friday, the day of the show, brought happiness to all as West put on their show for the residents of the Andover Haven. Such stars as our own "Beach Boys", Rich Dunn, Ray Rourke, Mark Doherty, and Jeff Kennedy, shared their talents along with Megan and Erin Sheehan. John and Stephanie Melilo, Jennifer Milne, Sarah Perry, along with many more.

Our thanks goes out to our spervisor, Ann Driscoll, for without her this Super Summer Celebration '80 would never have been possible.

Sanborn Pre-School

Groups had fun decorating gingerbread men cookies with frosting and sprinkles. Some cookies disappeared quickly into stomachs, some soon had a leg missing, and other cookies were saved to take home.

Michael McCarthy was the champion of the Musical Spaces game conducted by music specialist Tom Button.

Some children made pinwheels with Cathy French and Sandi Efinger. Others went on a nature walk collecting things to hide in their hands until a circle game was played. Then they passed the things collected behind backs with all the children guessing each object by feel. Children found an old stone wall in the woods. Meggan Haarman led the climbing on it. On the way back they picked gay-colored wildflowers in a field.

The children also took a trip to Rose Glen Dairy where they had ice cream and fed the ducks across the road.

Doherty

The beginning of the week at Doherty was used to prepare for Good Sports which Doherty hosted for the third time in a row. If you were heart broken by the Olympic boycott, Good Sports was the place to be.

Doherty started off strong with Danny Baril, Minh Nygyen, Billy Batchelder, and Jackie Dalton winning the balloon stuff. Gred deBeer came through for Doherty in a number of events including the shoe scramble and obstacle course. Scott DeGregorio also won the obstacle course, with Barry Connors taking first place in trivia and Billy Batchelder winning bubble gum blowing.

The climax of the competition was the tug-of-war between Sanborn and Doherty

Little Songstress

which Doherty woln but still ended up two points short of first place.

All week the kids have been testing their batting skills against Mike's amazing curveball in wiffleball games. In the arts and crafts department, we made popscicle stick buildings, and parachute men the day South dropped in for cookout. Bike hikes this week took us to West Andover with Andrew and Matt McManus, Ryan Huggins and Danny Baril taking to the road. Thanks to Jeff Manning and Dennis Wright for selling all that Kool-Aid.

Shawsheen

Spirits were mounting as Shawsheen Playground prepared for the Good Sports competition to be held Wednesday. Steve Trussell and Melanie Galliger practiced all day to perfect their licorice whip eating and grape toss skills.

Tuesday Penny Starks and Ann Marie Charland continued to devise the most effective tying job for the three-legged race — all their work payed off with a victory on Wednesday. A free piece of bubble gum was a good encentive to make Kevin Grasso, Bobby Galliger and Julie Misenti to blow their biggest bubble. When the competition day arrived Joe Sirois was especially well prepared to win the obstacle course and Kelly Ross was hungry enough to eat everybody out at the pie eating contest. Chris Harding's part of the competition took more brains than muscle as he finished second in the trivia test with only 3 wrong. Thank you for all your hard work.

"Bus Stop" Final Offering At Brooks

The Theatre at Brooks closes its third season with the traditional comedy "Bus Stop" by William Inge Aug. 7.

Can a show girl find happiness with a young, handsome cowboy who kidnaps her and takes her to the wilds of Montana? The plight of the cowboy is thwarted by a snow storm that delays the entire bus overnight at Grace's cafe.

Bus Stop stars Kim Jameson as Cheri, the showgirl, who will win your heart by her confusion and sensitivity. Jameson was last seen in the Theatre At Brooks production of "Onions" as Sally Tetnus. Jay Pennick, just completing the role of Kerry in "Noon at T.A.B." will play Bo, the naive cowboy who will do anything to win Cheri's love.

Adding the laughs to "Bus Stop" is Dr. Lyman, an alcholic professor escaping the world on a bus, portrayed by Dick Seguin. Seguin is known to area audiences for his performances in "The Lion in Winter," "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" and "The Sunshine Boys."

Mara Clark, whose experience takes her to Brooks from the Lyric Stage in Boston plays Grace, the owner of the diner. Others in the cast include, Jack Flynn as Virgil, companion to Bo, Anne Vitti and Elma. Dean Peterson as the sheriff, and Steve Walsh as Carl.

Elliot Winnick, who directed "Red Hot Lovers" and "The Lion" will be directing Bus Stop.

The Theatre at Brooks offers free champaign to local audiences on opening night.

Bus Stop will open Aug. 7 and continue Aug. 8, 9, 14, 15 and 16. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Group rates are available.

Reservations can be made by calling the theatre's box-office between 3 and 9 p.m.

Playgrounds

We finished third in the overall competition.

The pace was a bit slower Thursday after such a busy day but enthusiasm remained high. Almost the whole playground chipped in to make a pinata for parents week. Jeremy Kahn, David Sarracino, Mellissa Libby, Wanda Withowski got their hands especially gooey. Shorey W[illegible]ker, Gayle Grasso, Peter Misenti and Chris Harding played a brutal game of soccer in the gym. Gouls and goblins came to haunt us as we celebrated Halloween a bit early. Julie Misenti came as an Hawaiian girl while her brother Peter appeared as a goblin. Ann Marie Charland was especially colorfully dressed as a lady bug. Everyone enjoyed hard candy in "Barn Yard Holler" and the traditional dunking for apples and doughnuts on a string.

Meteor Shower Underway

Boston's Jubilee 350 gets a showy assist from nature in the Perseids meteor shower beginning its display this week.

The Charles Hayden Planetarium at the Museum of Science says the shower reaches its peak in the pre-dawn hours of Tuesday, Aug. 12. Some 50 to 60 streaks of light per hour cross the northern and northeastern portions of the sky at that time.

Starting about Aug. 5, the shower takes another week after Aug. 12 to wind down, with the number of meteors gradually diminishing. Weather permitting, visibility is expected to be especially good this year because the moon will not interfere.

The phenomenon of "shooting stars" is actually cosmic debris from outer space that burns up as it enters the earth's atmosphere, the Planetarium says. The trails of light making up the shower are glowing gases that surround particles of debris. The particles move at more than 130,000 miles (210,000 km) an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Black, Jr.

Black - Kimmerle

Karen Ann Kimmerle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Kimmerle of Dallas, Texas, formerly of Andover, became the bride June 28 of J. Duncan Black, Jr. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dundan Black of 7 Sweetbriar Lane, Andover.

The Rev. Joseph D. Keffer, O.S.A., officiated at the 2:30 Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony in St. Augustine's Church, Andover. He was assisted on the altar by Brian Flannery and John McDonald, both of Andover.

Spec. 4 Thomas H. Black, U. S. Army, brother of the groom, welcomed guests and gave the first reading from the book of Genesis. Other readings during the Mass were given by Russell Tassinari and William Alexander, both of Andover.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chiffon with fitted bodice of English net, Venice lace and seed pearls, full sheer sleeves with cuffs of Venice lace, a Victorian neckline banded in Venice lace and seed pearls and an accordion pleated skirt. Her matching picture hat had an attached chapel length train and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her sister, Susan Kimmerle of Dallas, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Ginny Dow of Andover, Joy Fazio of New York and Betsy Billings of Needham. Their gowns of peach silk rayon featured a chemise bodice, tulip skirt and a petal-shaped capelet. They wore combs of stephanotis and baby's breath in their hair and carried sprays of peach silk roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Timothy Meyers of Decatur, Ill., served as best man, and ushers were Thomas H. Black of Fort Sill, Okla. and Stephen Fabiani and T. J. Stamas, both of Bradford. Robert and Thomas Kimmerle, brothers of the bride, were junior ushers.

An evening reception was held at the Indian Ridge Country Club, Andover. Kathi Nicholas of Lawrence served as hostess at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Peekskill, N. Y., the couple is at home in Lowell.

The new Mrs. Black received a B. S. degree, cum laude, in elementary education, with certification in special education from Lesley College. She will be teaching emotionally disturbed adolescents in Lowell in the fall. Her husband is a senior at University of Lowell, where he is majoring in industrial technology. He is also employed at A. G. Pollard's, Lowell.

Gateway To Sea

A special Jubilee 350 exhibit, "Gateway to the Sea: 350 Years of Boston Harbor, has opened at the Museum of Transportation, at the Congress Street Wharf. The evolution of the harbor's history is reconstructed by rare old photographs, artist renderings and maps placed in chronological order.

The special exhibit, through September, is sponsored by New England Mutual Life Insurance Co.

In School's Wilderness Program

Melissa Hagan, 46 Foster St., North Andover, will take part in the 10th annual Mountain Wilderness Program offered by Earlham College, Richmond, Va., from Aug. 5 to Sept. 3.

Led by wilderness-trained faculty members and experienced upperclass students who serve as patrol leaders some 21 new students will be back packing in the High Uintas Primitive Area of Utah for a month.

Climbing rocks, learning to rappel, experiencing a solo bivouac are some of the challenges the group will face. In addition to acquiring outdoor skills, the students may earn one academic credit for successfully completing on-the-spot study of geology, biotic communities and land history.

The Mountain Wilderness expedition is one of two August sessions available to qualified new students.

Honored At Keuka

Susan J. Rand

The crowning of two queens, crew races in their honor, performances of the play "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little," a synchronized swim show, a concert by the Keuka College Chorale, and an arts and crafts show rounded out the traditional Keuka College May Day Weekend recently.

Miss Susan J. Rand, a senior political science major from North Andover, was selected by her fellow students as Keuka's "most representative woman."

Miss Rand is a student member of the Keuka College board of trustees and the head resident in one of the campus dormitories.

Inducted into the Society for Collegiate Journalism her sophomore year, she served as president her junior and senior years. She was editor of the student newspaper, Keukonian, her junior year, and co-editor of the yearbook, Kiondaga, her senior year.

Inducted her junior year into Sigma Tau Delta, a national fraternity for English majors, she served as president this year, and as president of the Political Action Coalition, and of Alpha Sigma Kappa, the Keuka fraternity which elects members on the basis of academic achievement and service to the college community.

In addition she was vice president of the freshman and sophomore classes, a member of crew team her sophomore and junior years, clerk of the Judiciary Board, and represented Keuka her freshman, sophomore, and junior years at the Model United Nations.

Her field periods of off-campus work were at the Tonawanda News in North Tonawanda, N.Y., her freshman year; in the office of Senator Sharon Pollard in Boston, her sophomore year; at The Citizen in North Andover, her junior year; and in the office of Resident Life at Boston University her senior year.

Miss Rand is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Rand, 280 Dale St., North Andover.

Native Corn Plentiful

Fresh native "corn on the cob" leads off the list of best buys for August, according to the Mass. Department of Food and Agriculture. The heat wave put a late growing season back on schedule, so sweet corn will be plentiful throughout the month at farmers markets, roadside farm stands and many supermarkets across the state.

The yellow and white "bi-colored" varieties are most prevalent and have become the most popular type since introduced by Massachusetts growers several years ago.

Fresh local blueberries are another best buy in local produce along with tomatoes, cucumbers, snap beans, summer and zucchini squash. A bumper Bay State crop of peaches is forecast, and the supply of native eggplant and peppers is increasing.

Shoppers will also find good values in plums, nectarines, grapes, lemons and limes.

Best buys at the meat counter should be various cuts of pork and turkeys. Shoppers can expect price increases in broilers and eggs as the reduced production caused by the extreme heat in the Southwest is beginning to affect local supply and demand.

The popular native blueberry season is in progress and there are some seventeen Massachusetts farms now offering the "pick your own" variety.

The forecast is for an average sized Bay State blueberry crop as some local growers are reporting evidence of winterkill.

If you're planning to pick-your-own, it's always best to call ahead to check on the current supplies, and it's also wise to wear comfortable clothing!

Whether you're picking or buying blueberries, choose those with dark blue color and a silvery bloom, which is the natural protective coating. Choose blueberries that are plump, firm and dry; for best storage keep covered and unwashed in the refrigerator.

Fresh Eggplant Now Available

Eggplant, which is grown throughout the year in Florida, is now available fresh from local farms, according to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture. The hot July days have helped the crop reach its expected peak for harvesting during August and September.

Thought it is commonly thought of as a vegetable, the eggplant is actually a fruit, and is a member of the family that includes tomatoes and potatoes. Eggplant has been referred to by a number of names, among which are guinea squash, aubergine, and, in the 16th century, apples of love or mad apples. By whatever name, the versatility of native grown eggplants is extensive.

the royal purple eggplant is widely favored in the cookery of Near Eastern lands, France, Italy and Greece and also in India, the Far East, Indonesia (where it presumably originated) and the American tropics. Many common recipes that we associate with eggplant reflect the tastes of these distant countries.

When selecting eggplant, it is suggested for most culinary purposes to purchase two or more of the smallest, firmest, most unwrinkled ones you can find, rather than a single large one. A soft or shriveled fruit will also usually be bitter or otherwise poor in flavor.

Eggplant parmigiana, a favorite in Italian restaurants, can easily be prepared at home; other easy recipes include baked stuffed eggplant and sauteed eggplant. If your own garden is producing an abundance of eggplant, remember that this vegetable can also be canned.

Ratatouille, a classic version of eggplant from the south of France, is an economical summer side dish prepared with summer squash, tomatoes, onions and peppers. Most farms will have these vegetables throughout the remainder of the summer, so take advantage of their high quality and low prices.

Salute To Tall Ships

Classic Film For Seniors

"Bringing Up Baby," considered by many to be the classic example of "screwball comedy" is the featured film Monday, Aug. 11, at 2 p.m. at the Andover Senior Center, 11 Essex St.

The fun begins when the orderly life of a very staid paleontologist, Cary Grant, is upset by a very wealthy, but scatterbrained, young lady played by Katharine Hepburn. "Baby", Miss Hepburn's pet leopard, steals most every scene in this fabulous film.

The Sturgeon

The sturgeon, an ancient fish, lives in northern lakes and rivers; it needs clean sand, gravel, or stone to survive. Hard plates (evolved into fish scales in modern fish) cover the spine and sides. This fish matures in 25 years, grows to 45 inches, and at 200 pounds it may be 100 years old. Sea sturgeon spawn in the mouth of rivers along the Atlantic coast, Audubon tells us.

Elm, Foster's Pond Areas First

Home Inspections To Begin Monday

The second phase of revaluation of all real property in Andover will begin Monday.

Data collectors will begin visiting residences in the Elm Street-Merrimack College area, and will proceed toward Andover Center.

They will also be working in the Fosters Pond area, in order to cover any "seasonal" dwellings there before fall.

Meanwhile, inspections of commercial properties are already underway in the North Main Street-Shawsheen Square area. Tworek said they should be at Shawsheen Plaza by the end of this week, and will be up to Andover Center sometime next week.

If no one is at home for the first inspection, the data collector will list the property's site characteristics and measure all buildings, according to Eugene Tworek, project supervisor for PRC Jacobs, the revaluation firm hired by the town.

He said a second visit would be made on another day for an interior inspection. Door hangers would be left with a phone number so an appointment could be made, if necessary.

Tworek emphasized this week that all representatives of PRC Jacobs carry proper identification badges, complete with photograph and other pertinent information, and that they'll be registered with the police department. He said if a resident sees a car driving slowly around the neighborhood, a call to the police department would confirm if it was or wasn't legitimate.

He said the data collectors will not be making appraisal judgments, but rather just collecting real property characteristics.

They'll list site characteristics and measure the perimeters of residential structures, secondary buildings and building components. The interior inspection will be to note structural components. Personal property will not be recorded, Tworek said.

The reappraisal of all real property is being done in compliance with the Supreme Judicial Court's mandate to revalue at full market value. PRC Jacobs expects to complete the project within 12 months.

Persons with questions about the program may call 475-0635, the firm's office in town hall.

Cable May Be Only A Year Away

Andover may be enjoying cable television service in little more than one year, the chairman of the town's cable television advisory committee reported to the selectmen Monday night.

The committee has narrowed down candidates for Andover's cable TV franchise to three applicants, chairman Reginald Marden told the selectmen.

The three applicants are Continental Cablevision, Rollins Cablevision, and Acton Corp., Marden said. All three propose to provide the service to the entire town, he noted.

The selectmen can plan on awarding the cable television license in October or November, Marden said. Once the license is awarded, it will probably be a year before the "system is turned on for the town," he explained.

Marden added, however, that portions of the system could be turned on as they are completed, in less than a year.

The cable television advisory committee, which has been laying the foundation for the selectmen's awarding of the cable license, is currently developing amended requirements for proposals to be submitted by the applicants.

The selectmen must formally adopt the committee's criteria for amended requirements for proposals, Marden said, adding that the committee will have the criteria ready for the selectmen's review by Labor Day.

After the three applicants have submitted their amended proposals in response to the new criteria, the committee will make a recommendation to the selectmen, Marden said.

The selectmen will be required to hold a public hearing before awarding the franchise and license to one of the cable television services, Marden said. The selectmen may set "terms and conditions on the license as they see fit," he added.

Marden's committee should summarize the "strengths and weaknesses" of each applicant along with their recommendation, the selectmen said. The board also asked the town manager to comment on the advisory committee's recommendation.

The cable franchise, once it is awarded, will provide "additional benefits to the town, other than just cable television," said Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark.

Community programming, broadcast from such places as Phillips Academy, Merrimack College and the Historical Commission, is one of the options to be explored, Clark explained.

The cable licensee may also be required to donate equipment to the town, Marden added. Discussions are already underway with the school department and Memorial Hall Library concerning the use of facilities and equipment that may be made available to the town, he said.

"We are trying to structure it so that we

Ad Hoc Subcommittee Proposed To Deal With Town's Developers

Confusion that has arisen over plans for the Andover Country Club subdivision, may lead to the creation of a new ad hoc subcommittee, representing all town boards and committees that get involved with plans submitted by developers.

Selectmen last week expressed a concern that developer Andover-Cormier, Inc., has inundated the town with too many alternative plans for sewering his proposed 360-acre subdivision that will eventually include more than 270 houses.

The selectmen therefore called in Monday night representatives of the Planning Board, Board of Health, Conservation Commission, Department of Public Works, and Department of Community Development and Planning to discuss the subdivision. All play a role in approving various aspects of subdivision plans.

"As the town manager has said, the town doesn't always speak with one voice." Selectmen Chairman James Abramson said. "We are meeting tonight to see if we can speak with one voice."

Abramson said the selectmen would like town boards "to put some pressure on Andover-Cormier to come up with and submit one plan for our approval. The concern of the selectmen is, how many plans do we have to consider?"

The developer recently submitted to the planning board a plan for sewering the subdivision which calls for running sewer lines through section one of the development, located off Canterbury Street. The plan is a revision of one approved by the planning board last year.

However, the planning board is awaiting a detailed study from the department of public works before reaching a decision. DPW Director Robert McQuade said his department would examine the plan in relation to the town's master sewer plan.

"We can't make a decision without the report from Bob McQuade," planning board member Frank McBride told the selectmen. "Without it, we are in limbo at this point."

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark informed the selectmen that the developer has also prepared an alternative plan, which will be on the agenda of the next selectmen's meeting, for their review in their capacity as sewer commissioners.

This most recent plan represents Cormier's "final plan and full package" for sewering the entire subdivision, McQuade told the selectmen. The plan, recently described in general terms to the selectmen, would require less gravel removal and would save trees, Cormier's engineers say.

However, the plan depends on the developer's receiving an easement through town conservation land in the Hussey's Brook area, which could take as long as a year to obtain, and could possibly be denied.

For that reason, the developer will present the selectmen with one alternative, DPW Director McQuade said: That will be the same plan currently under study by Public Works, and awaiting planning board review and approval.

Special counsel Tom Arnold, who attended Monday's meeting at the selectmen's request, pointed out that it is "in the town's best interest to coordinate the decisions (of each board involved in the approval process), and not whipsaw any developer back and forth between boards."

Chairman Abramson agreed: "We've been after the developer to get his game plan together — maybe it's time we got our game plan together," he said.

It would be helpful for the developer to "deal with all the boards at the same time, so that all the boards are exploring the same issues at the same time — that's where we're getting hung up," Abramson said.

Selectman Susan Poore commented that "this town does not want the reputation of being in a state of confusion." But she added that review of the country club subdivision has been complicated by the developer's approach of submitting detailed plans for only two sections of the seven-section subdivision at this time.

"This is being treated piecemeal rather than as a whole," Poore said. "The developer's piecemeal approach is costing all the boards some concern. To treat it as a whole would be far more intelligent. If Disabling Shots ... Andover Police Sgt. Richard Enos points to the hole of a bullet that disabled the car of alleged kidnappers Monday night. Police say Henry Lehensbaum, 46 Lovejoy Road, fired at the car after the woman victim had escaped. At least three shots hit the auto. Story on page one.

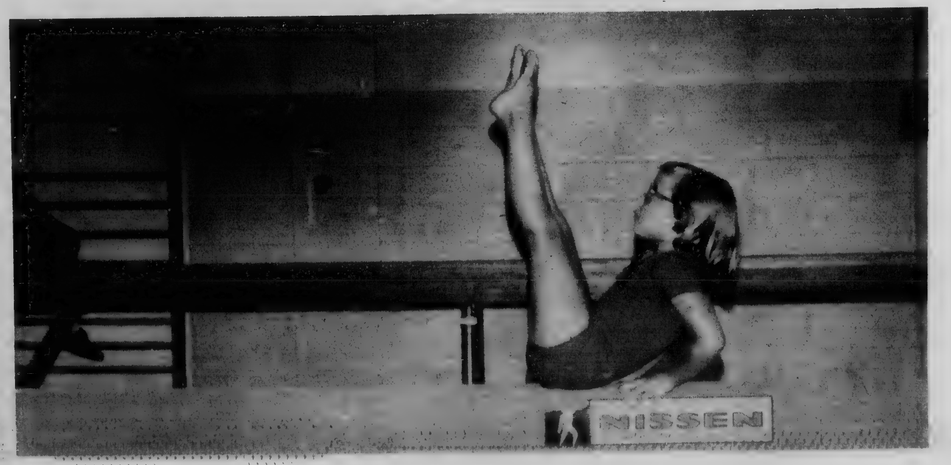
Olympics, Andover Style

Andover youngsters ages 5 - 12 demonstrated their budding athletic abilities during a Department of Community Services gymnastics meet held in the high school gym last Friday. In photos, clockwise from top left: Patty Darwin carefully moves along the balance beam; Linda DePiano and Shauna Lafauci keep their eyes on performer; Bobby Nakasone runs through his floor exercise routine; Susan Bush and Cynthia Arliss give a tumbling exhibition; Andrea Napolatano demonstrates her form on the balance beam; Merry Puglia executes a dance step in her floor exercise and Kristin Stanko vaults high over the horse.



Thank You, Mr. Lebensbaum

There's good and bad in every town, and Andover is no different.

Perhaps Monday night's heroics by a resident of Lovejoy Road will lift the spirits of a community saddened since the senseless act that maimed Louise Trahan here one night in May.

This week, the spotlight is on a man who responded to late-night cries for help. Henry Lebensbaum showed the young woman from New Jersey, who had already suffered mental and physical anguish at the hands of alleged abductors, that New Englanders don't always close the door to strangers.

He not only offered her sanctuary, but set out to apprehend the two she claimed had forced her into a car near her hotel in Boston.

A discussion of citizens bearing arms, we'll save for another time, while we praise and admire the man who, with seeming disregard for himself, jumped to her defense.

He got involved, and Andover is proud.

While there will surely be tormenting times ahead, for this young woman at least, the physical ordeal ended in Andover.

Alas, for Louise Trahan, it began.

And for those who strain to survey darkened overpasses ahead in the night, the fact that the person (or persons) who nearly destroyed the unsuspecting teacher on I-93 three months ago is still at large, is considerably discomfiting.

Some breathe a sigh of relief each time they scoot unscathed under an unprotected road, and wonder if the youth (or youths) who dropped the 14-pound rock off High Plain Road, has been sleeping well all summer.

Andover police continue to investigate every lead.

But, it turns out, their efforts have been stymied in some areas by parents who won't allow them to question their youngsters.

By their non-cooperation, they're condoning the hideous act: the lesson they're teaching is quite the opposite of respect for law and order and concern for Fellowman.

We would urge that family or families to come forward and relieve themselves of the burden. If it's reprisal they fear, we question if that fear will dissolve through silence. How do THEY feel, we wonder, as they themselves drive under an unprotected overpass?

Not like Henry Lebensbaum, who can hold up his head to his family and to his community. Henry Lebensbaum, who wasn't afraid to get involved.

Functioning Of Board Is League's Concern

To the Editor of The TOWNSMAN:

Your editorial of July 31, calls for a response from the League of Women Voters. Because the League studies and acts on issues, we shall respond to your question of the timing of Pamela St. John's appearance before the Board of Selectmen rather than your feelings toward the League itself.

Mrs. St. John (who, by the way, is first vice-president not president) spoke to the Selectmen with the approval and backing of the League of Women Voters. This approval was given at the June 4 board meeting. Mrs. St. John was chosen as spokesperson because of her experience as Land Use Chairperson of the League and as a member of the Central Business District Committee which operates under the Planning Board.

The decision of when to speak was prompted by the timing of the issue itself — the Board of Selectmen was considering the expansion of the Planning Board. The date was at the discretion of the Selectmen in making up their agenda. During the months preceding our talk with the Selectmen the League had spoken to the Town Manager and some previous members of the Planning Board.

Our main concern in all this is the functioning of the Planning Board. We want the Planning Board to function well so that Andover will develop and grow in the best way possible. And we want the Planning Board to function well so that it will attract and keep dedicated people serving on it. Planning Board members work very hard and carry a heavy load. They need to have a sense of accomplishment rather than a sense of frustration. The whole town is affected by the decisions of the Planning Board.

The League did not provide the Selectmen with a "studied critique of the Planning Board." We gave input which we hoped would be considered by the Selectmen in their decision on whether or not to expand the Planning Board. The League through its Observer Corps monitors most of the town boards and committees. This is one of the ways the League gathers information in order to study issues so that when the time for action comes, we will be able to make an informed decision and act in a prudent manner.

Town matters rightly belong wherever citizens want to discuss them. Everyone, including the League of Women Voters, has the right to speak out and does not need approval or permission to do so. Citizen participation in government is to be encouraged, not discouraged.

The Right To Speak

To The Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Last week's editorial raises serious questions. First, the editorial was blatantly sexist. In 1980 an uncute slam of the League of Women Voters as a "Koffee Klatch" is demeaning and biased against women. If a Chamber of Commerce committee, religious, or Rotary type group spoke to a community concern, would it be as quickly put down? While being criticized in the TOWNSMAN last week the League was being praised across the state for the passage of the "Cancer Incidence Registry."

Secondly, how shall we overcome citizen apathy or a lack of involvement in our "participatory democracy' if one of the only citizen groups which does expend its valuable time examining political and community issues is asked to be silent. Citizen's groups may not always be on the same time schedule as the "officials" but then they are not often privileged to chose the moment of their being heard nor are they informed of all other efforts behind closed doors.

We may not always agree with positions taken by various groups, including editors, but let's fight for their right to speak and provide valuable additional and alternative perspectives to those of our government.

A Sexist-Slur

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Last week, The Andover Townsman published an editorial concerning criticism of the town planning board by the League of Women Voters. The TOWNSMAN took the League to task for criticizing the board at a time when the town government was seeking to solve the board's difficulties.

It seems to me that this viewpoint is in complete conflict with the most basic democratic principles. Citizen awareness, vigilance and criticism are vital to our form of government at every level, and most assuredly in the town meeting system.

The management of the town of Andover is not a family matter or the business of a private corporation. It concerns all of us, not except when there are problems but especially when there are problems. The TOWNSMAN would serve its role as Fourth Estate better by printing even more about the planning board's problems instead of merely alluding vaguely to "personality conflicts."

I would like to make one further point regarding last week's editorial. The piece closed with an off-hand remark the problems were better handled by the town's administration than "kaffeeklatches." As a woman, I found this reference gratuitously insulting. The image of idle women stirring up trouble around the kitchen table is a sexist slur. It insults both the female citizens of Andover and the members of the League of Women Voters (I am not one), an organization with an outstanding record for hard work and impartial and assiduous attention to issues of government.

The Andover Townsman can do better than this.

Library Design A "Waste Of Money"

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

If the architect hadn't revealed what it was, his proposed ginger bread decoration for the school new library's roof could have passed as a memorial replica of an abandoned clay brick kiln's chimney.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — August 1905

A number of local horsemen went to Dover Wednesday to witness the races at Granite State Park.

A new tar sidewalk has been laid from the corner of Elm Street across High Street making a needed convenience for employees of Tyer Rubber Company.

The oldest resident of Andover, Mrs. James H. Merrill, has passed another "mile stone". Children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren greeted her on her ninety-second birthday.

The manicure parlors of Mrs. L. M. Bowering in the Gleason Building will close Saturday, August 12, and will remain closed until Sept. 5th, when she will open her new parlors in the Bay State Building, Rooms 509-510.

The home of Daniel Murphy on Argilla Road was broken into some time last Saturday afternoon and $100 was stolen. The thief got away without anyone seeiong him and not a single clue has been found to lead to an arrest. The case is a particularly sad one as the money was all that Mr. Murphy owned and the thief must have possessed an exceedingly hard heart to commit such an act. He will undoubtedly be severely punished if caught.

50 Years Ago — August 1930

A tercentenary program, "In Witchcraft Days," will be given by the playground children under the direction of Miss Margaret Davis on the playstead this evening beginning at seven o'clock.

The rear wheels of the steamroller had outlived their usefullness and have been replaced with new wheels. We were fortunate in being privileged to use the steamroller which is the property of the Town of North Andover while our roller was being repaired.

The four members of the alleged wild party who were taken into custody Saturday evening by the Andover police were arraigned in District Court Monday morning. The four were taken into custody in a camp in the Ballardvale section. They are alleged to have been drinking hard cider.

Frank Walker, of South Lawrence, who recently observed his 75th birthday, caused considerable anxiety in West Andover Tuesday night when he was lost in the wooded section around Haggett's Pond. He has been in the habit of going to that section of late to pick berries and in this way he has become known to the residents on account of his age. Last night he entered the woods about six o'clock and was quickly lost sight of. When he failed to return at eight o'clock the natives became alarmed and notified the Andover police.

Officer Carl Stevens responded and entered the swamp. After searching for more than an hour Officer Stevens, accompanied by Charles Morgan of North Andover and Joseph Chambers of West Andover, came upon the elderly berry picker sitting beneath a big bush as if pondering some weighty problem. He was quite unconcerned and was surprised that anyone could take such an interest in him. He emerged from the swamp in company with the three good samaritans who each ruined a good suit of clothes in the search.

25 Years Ago — August 1955

A firm decision on new Route 28 interchanges has not yet been made. And the state will make every effort to cooperate with the town in that regard. The state department of public works has taken serious note of the hearing held some weeks ago, when many residents expressed disapproval of a Dascomb road interchange and favored an interchange at Lowell Junction.

Total real estate and personal property valuations jumped by over half a million dollars this year. The assessors announced an increase of $567,475 in real estate valuations, for a 1955 total of $20,451,175.

Two polio cases have been reported in Andover. Three-year-old Elaine Kopath of 3 Dumbarton St. was hospitalized only briefly, however, when doctors said her condition was no longer acute. Bruce Dodd, 34, 19 Argyle St., has been placed in an iron lung at the Massachusetts General Hospital with a diagnosis of bulbar polio.

The acute water problems in West Andover and eased but far from solved this week. Town Engineer Ralph Preble, head of the water department, said he hopes a combination of regulated domestic and market garden watering plus the use of a booster pump will solve the problem temporarily.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Billygate Keeps on Swinging Before the White House Door

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- It appears that Jimmy Carter is no better than Richard Nixon at covering up White House scandals.

Two years ago, I reported that international swindler Robert Vesco had tried to bribe White House intimates. Vesco has now told Senate investigators that he then received a telephone call from his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams.

Williams allegedly told Vesco that presidential aides Hamilton Jordan and Robert Strauss were at his side as he spoke. The attorney then advised Vesco to keep his mouth shut.

Eighteen months ago, I flew to Libya to investigate the strange friendship between President Carter's brother Billy and Libyan strongman Muammar Qaddafi. The fiery dictator agreed to see me. But he refused to talk about Billy Carter.

The White House was even more secretive. Still, I was able to pry loose most of the facts about Billy Carter's Libyan connection. My sources also told me that the president knew in advance about Billy's trips to Libya.

More recently, the president gave Billy a stern, brotherly lecture. Jimmy reportedly told Billy to keep silent and sober during the upcoming election campaign.

I also learned that Richard Shadyac, a registered Libyan agent in Washington, had been in touch with Billy. Afterward, Shadyac was invited to head the Arab-American committee to re-elect President Carter.

A few days ago, Shadyac received an urgent telephone call from White House aide Richard Aiello. The aide instructed him to keep away from the press until a secret meeting could be arranged with campaign manager Tim Kraft. Aiello also demanded that Shadyac pledge to disavow any knowledge of the meeting.

Shadyac and Kraft later met for 45 minutes at a downtown Washington restaurant. But Shadyac couldn't be silenced, and another coverup was uncovered.

OF, BY AND FOR LAWYERS: Our founding fathers intended to create a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It hasn't turned out quite that way. Instead, we have a government of the lawyers, by the lawyers and for the lawyers.

We have become ensnarled in legal red tape. Last year alone, federal, state and local authorities enacted more than 150,000 new laws. Each of these was subdivided into dozens of regulations. It's getting so we can't make a move without tripping over some government regulation.

For example, the pursuit of women has always been considered the God-given right of seafaring men. But the lawyers would even regulate romance on the high seas. It's a federal offense for a seaman to seduce a female passenger aboard a steamship.

The lawyers have also done what they can to prevent any delay of mailmen. That goes for carrier pigeons, too. It's against federal law to detain a carrier pigeon on its appointed rounds.

In the event a whale should make it hundreds of miles across dry land to Oklahoma, that state has a law against catching whales.

The lawyers in other locales have not been idle. In Michigan, it's illegal to hitch a crocodile to a fire hydrant. In Knoxville, Tenn., it's against the law to lasso a fish. In Quitman, Ga., a chicken is prohibited from crossing the road. And in Maine, a person can to go to jail for building a fire under a stubborn mule.

Thus we are caught in the toils of the law. Is the situation hopeless? Probably so. But William Shakespeare had a suggestion that could extricate us from all the laws. Come the revolution, he said, the first thing to do is eliminate all the lawyers.

NEGLECTED CASH: Drug traffickers deal in cash, and they have to find places to keep it. So one of the most effective tools for catching the drug kingpins is to keep track of large deposits of currency in the nation's banks. But this tool has largely gone unused. Since 1970, bankers have been required by law to notify the Treasury Department when someone makes unusually large deposits of cash in savings and checking accounts. But investigators for the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations have discovered that the so-called "currency reports" have been gathering little more than dust at the Treasury Department.

HALL OF HEROES: This week, we nominate to our Hall of Heroes the frugal bureaucrats at the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. Top officials there encourage employees to obtain excess government supplies rather than purchase brand-new items. In one year, the agency managed to obtain $420,000 worth of office furniture, calculators and typewriters for only $105,000.

WATCH ON WASTE: Federal bureacrats in Prescott, Ariz., spent over $500,000 shoring up part of the Fort Whipple Veterans Administration Hospital in case of an earthquake. Overlooked was the fact that Prescott is in one of the most geologically stable parts of the country ... The Agriculture Department's Farmer's Home Administration has discovered a unique way of keeping its delinquent borrowers at a minimum: When customers fail to pay, the bureaucrats simply declare a moratorium on repayments and refinance the loans.

Camp Ends For Young Booters

Phillips Academy wound up a four-week soccer camp with a family day Saturday. The camp, for boys and girls aged 9 to 18, is offered in conjunction with the school's summer session. This summer, more than 400 youngsters attended the camp, now in its fourth year. Sport Shop Boots It's Way Into Playoff

The Northern Division of the Surburbaan Twilight Soccer League came down to a dramatic close last week as four teams battled it out head-to-head in their final game of the season for the leagues two top play-off positions.

After the dust had settled, the Topsfield Jets had secured top honors and first place in the division with a 3-2 victory over Salem while the Andover Sport Shop nabbed the second place and the other play-off spot via a 2-2 tie with the Topsfield Old Boys. The final standings for the league were:

	W-L-T-Pts.
Topsfield Jets	9-0-5 23
Andover Sport Shop	9-1-4 22
Salem	8-2-4 20
Topsfield Old Boys	8-2-4 20
Peabody	3-7-4 10
Hamilton-Wenham	3-9-1 7
Andover Hockey Shop	2-9-1 5
Haverhill	1-10-1 3

Sport Shop 2
Peabody 0

In other action last week, Tuesday night found the Sport Shop hosting Peabody in a game that resembled waterpolo more than soccer. The entire contest was played under heavy steady rain that at times bordered on being torential. The rains left puddles up to five inches deep on the field, particularly in front of the goal mouths and in the center of the field. This led to many humerous situations as players vainly tried to kick the ball out of the deep puddles. Nevertheless, the Sport Shop managed to slip and slide to a 2-0 victory due mainly to the sure foot of winger Dave Hines.

Hines managed to boot in both goals in the contest. His first score came in the first half on a blast from left of the goal mouth that beat the Peabody goalie cleanly. His second goal came in the second half and was set up nicely by Dave Farrell.

Working on the left side of the field in one of the only areas not totally under water. Farrell pushed a perfect pass over to Hines which he obligingly rocketed past the Peabody keeper. The two goals turned out to be enough as the Sport Shop Goalie, Chuck Ness, recorded his third shutout of the year.

The win put Andover's record of games played on Sacred Heart field at six wins, no losses and two ties. In those games, Andover outscored their opposition 21 goals to 7.

Sport Shop 2
Old Boys 2

Thursday night Andover traveled to Topsfield for an important game with The Topsfield Old Boys. Andover started out slow and except for occasional patches, Topsfield controlled the play. Topsfield got on the board first mid-way through the first period. MOst of the rest of the half was uneventful until with five minutes left in the half. Andover goal keeper Chuck Ness was stepped on by a Topsfield player and received a cut hand which required seven stitches to close. With their back-up goalie absent. Marc Koolen volunteered to go into the nets, even though he had never before played that position. The half ended with the Sport Shop trailing 1-0.

Andover came out for the 2nd half and played very spirited soccer. The Springfield Trio, Dave Johnson, Dave Hines, and Dave Farrell combined for some nice work resulting in good offensive pressure and some very close shots.

At eight minutes into the second half, Tommy Keefe took in a pass from Carl Gutterman and rocketed a shot by the Topsfield keeper for a 1-1 tie soccer game.

Play really intensified at this point as both teams pressed for the advantage. Andover just missed taking the lead midway through the final half as midfielder Dan

Registration For Tennis Tourney

The annual Department of Community Services town-wide adult tennis tournament gets underway Wednesday, Aug. 13. Once again, competition will be taking place at two different skill levels: novice/intermediate and advanced. The final date to register for the tournament is Friday, Aug. 8.

Individuals 16 years old and over who work or reside in Andover are eligible to play. While entrants may not register in more than one skill level, they may register for any of the three competition categories: singles, doubles, or mixed doubles. Participants should keep in mind that if they register in two or three categories, they may have to play as many as four to six matches in one day, and this may be beyond their physical capacities.

Trophies will be awarded to finalists in all categories. Further tournament information plus registration forms are available at the DCS office, 36 Bartlet St., the Hockey Shop and the Sport Shop.

Soccer

Earley vollied a shot off a pass from Dave Farrell that banged off the post. Still the score remained tied and the pace remained furious at both ends of the field. With a little less than 10 minutes to go in the contest, winger Dave Earley battled for a ball in the corner that squirted over to Tommy Keefe who settled the ball, broke past a defender and knocked the ball into the nets for his second goal of the afternoon and gave the Sport Shop a 2-1 lead.

Now the Sport Shop tried to hold on. The humidity and the fact that the Sport Shop was playing with only one sub began to take its totl as Topsfield was controlling the pace once again. Good defense by fullbacks Sal Cianciolo, Jim Ness and Tim Dewhurst and some courageous play by netminder Marc Koolen made it look as if Andover would prevail.

However, with only 25 seconds remaining, a three-man breakaway by Topsfield led to a score and a 2-2 tie.

the Andover team now joins the Topsfield Jets and the first two finishers in the other divisions to determine the overall champion of the 64-team league. The Sport Shop faces Everett at Everett in the opening round of the playoffs.

Hockey Shop Youths Have Winning Summer

This year's summer youth soccer team, sponsored by The Hockey Shop and coached by Jim DiClemente, compiled a strong 11-2-2 record.

The team competed in the Eastern Mass. Schoolboy League, which had four out of seven teams finish in post-season play last fall.

DiClemente was very happy with the dedication these boys showed this summer. Because other varsity teams play in summer leagues, DiClemente said the boys' participation was almost a prerequisite to a successful fall season. He said their skill levels improved, and that will show in their team play this fall when the competition for spots on the varsity level will be strong. The main purpose of the league is to learn, progress, and gain good varsity level experience.

Public Forum

There were many in New England. In that light it would hardly represent "uncolonializing of Andover."

Whether kiln or pagoda, the view to keep in focus is that its an over costly decoration and has no redeeming utility and little of the aesthetic substance supposed to be its justification.

Because this proposed structure would add weight as well as weather strains to the library's foundation and walls, it is likely that its elimination would cut costs up to 30%; that is $300,000 off the presently estimated $1,000,000 plus for the library.

To that must be added the savings of interest and maintenance costs over the next 20 years if not built.

It would be useful to know if this information had been considered by the building committee before giving its approval.

We would be less than prudent to accept the architect's fulsome approval of his handiwork. His fee is directly related to the amount of money spent; not the amount that prudence can justify.

It is hoped it is not too much to assume that the Finance Committee has already sent a letter to both building and school committees expressing strong disapproval of this reckless proposal for wasting tax money.

Moreover, FinCon had plans to reap a windfall interest "profit" for the town during the period of construction of the entire project; borrow large sums of money at, say 6 percent and, until used, relend at 12 to 15 percent. However towns and cities are now paying up to 8 percent plus to borrow and relending is down to 11 percent or less.

Also FinCon in its 1980 report to the Town Meeting expressly warned of the continued and rapid increase in the costs of operating and maintaining all types of town structures. (But then it contradicted itself by giving approval to this $11,000,000 plus building program at a time when there is a growing decline in school pupils).

Anyhow, the Federal government at last is pushing up town borrowing costs for the express purpose of discouraging nonproductive building of which this "kiln" memorial is a prime example.

Consequently, should the building committee persist in this all nonsense waste of taxpaper money, both town and state's, then the office of selectmen should call a special town meeting. This would provide the voters with the means to vote the proposal up or down. A half million dollars might be saved.

Rarely is the sensible course for selectmen action so obvious.

Big Barnacle

A barnacle, Balanus nubilus, that lives in Puget Sound, Wash., D. C., grows to three pounds and has lobster-crab flavor when steamed. The muscle fibers of this barnacle are among the largest in the world: 14 to 20 times thicker than human muscle fibers, Mass. Audubon notes.

Hurricane Winds

Differing wind speeds at the top and bottom of a hurricane may change its course. Studies in the Atlantic, 1961-77, find that 24 to 36 hours before a storm veers eastward, the flow of low level winds (300 to 600 miles from the storm's center) are 10 meters per second stronger than winds at the upper level. When winds at the top are stronger, the storm turns westward, Mass. Audubon says.

we don't, we'll be kind of up a creek — only at the end will we know what the final product will be."

An ad hoc subcommittee consisting of representatives of all the concerned boards, commissions and committees which would review developers' plans when they are first presented to the town might be one solution, suggested McQuade.

"The problem is, this board would have no statutory backing," he pointed out. "It could make no decisions for any of the statutory boards."

But such a committee could improve communications between boards and help town officials to "give some direction to the developer," Abramson said.

McBride said the subcommittee would be "useful and beneficial," while planning board member Jack Tomlinson added that it would also "take the onus off the developer to coordinate board activities, as he now must."

Conservation Commission Chairman Robert Pustell said he would be "willing to try" participation on the subcommittee. He noted, however, that "it will be hard for this preliminary board to resolve any real argumentative issues. When you get down into the real nitty gritty things, you'll have a lot more trouble making it work."

will build an obligation to do this type of thing into the contract," Marden told the selectmen. "For instance, we can ask them to build a studio at the high school. We are trying to make sure these things will happen once the system is underway."

Cable service will probably be provided in all town buildings, he added — but television sets will not be included.

Selectmen Chairman James Abramson commented that he was glad that the committee's work is progressing toward the point when the selectmen will be able to award the license.

The kids who gather in the evening on the Mall at Shawsheen Square have their defenders as well as their detractors. During an informal discussion at Monday's selectmen's meeting, the activities of the young people were criticized by Selectman Sidney P. After the two alleged assailants fled, Lebensbaum took the woman back to his home and called police. She was subsequently treated at the Lawrence General Hospital Rape Unit, and Andover Officers David St. Jean and Donald Pattulo went to Tewksbury to make the arrest.

This is the third rape case on which Andover police have been called in a month.

They have a warrant out for one suspect on charges of rape and assault and battery with a dangerous weapon. That case involved a Lawrence woman who was picked up in that town and taken to Old River Road.

Police are also investigating an attempted rape of a student in the vicinity of School and Morton Streets, during the early evening hours one night in July.

tion of the East Junior High auditorium; for adding a new auditorium and some renovations at the high school; and for adding the new library plus some renovations at West Junior High.

The building committee tonight will look at those plans as "one package," which will include "further refinements" of plans previously approved by the committee, Landry said.

The architects will present some new aspects of the plans, he added, while other parts of the plans will simply be "better defined so that the committee can understand them more clearly."

The committee will probably give its final approval for the plans tonight, the vice chairman said. If so, work will next begin on preparing bid documents, and the three-part project will be put up for bids sometime this fall.

In his opinion, controversy over the roof design for the new West Junior High library has been "blown out of proportion," Landry said.

"The school administration asked the architects to come up with something with some spirit, to give the school some life, and the architects did exactly what they were asked," he said.

He added that the architects have designed "more than 250 schools in New England, and have taken into consideration the problems of our climate."

Landry called the pagoda design "an entirely different situation from the Bancroft roof," to which it has been compared.

"There was a basic design problem with that roof," he explained. "And there is no design problem with (the pagoda) at all. The architects know what they are doing — and the committee is confident that they will do it right."

Moreau Auto Body — Collision Specialists

With today's new car prices reaching new highs, it makes more sense than ever to have your present automobile repaired, refurbished, perhaps repainted and get a few more years out of it. Moreau Auto Body at 650 South Union Street, Lawrence, next to the Frost Arena, are specialists in auto body repair and their rates are reasonable.

Moreau Auto Body are collision specialists. They can repair anything — from motorcycles to bulldozers, trucks of all sizes, foreign and domestic automoblies. From minor dents to major body work caused by an accident, no job is too big or too small for Moreau Auto Body.

Tom Moreau, owner, has had many years of experience in auto body work. Tom is an Andover resident and served as an apprentice at Armand's Auto Body 12 years ago. He worked for General Motors for 5 years and as a manager for Datsun for 5 years before opening his own shop. A member of the M.V. Auto Body Assoc., Tom served on the Board of Directors last year, receiving the President's Award for 1979. This professionalism extends into all phases of work done at Moreau Auto Body.

This is a complete facility. All work is done right on the premises by the owner, using the newest equipment in the business, including a frame straightening machine. They do complete painting jobs and expert color matching on repair work. Insurance estimates are done fast and accurately.

Recycle your automobile. Instead of buying a new car, you can have it repaired at Moreau Auto Body for the price of the sales tax on a new car and get 3 or 4 more years out of it. Think of the savings on new car excise taxes, too! Let Moreau Auto Body take a look at your car — they will tell you whether it is worth fixing. If it's declared a total, get their estimate before you make a decision.

Stop by any time at Moreau Auto Body, 650 So. Union St., Lawrence, just over the bridge from Andover. Tel. 688-6805.

By DOUGLAS N. HOWE

AGE NO BARRIER

There seems to be a misconception about some people being too old to obtain a mortgage loan because they have no chance of outliving the length of the average loan. Thus, the pointed question: Under normal lending conditions, when does a person become too old to buy a home and obtain a mortgage? With certain reservations . . . never!

If the real estate equity is there and the ability to repay is established, what is the difference if a person is 30 or 70 years of age? Each case, however, must be judged on its individual merits.

A survey of loans by one major Savings and Loan Association revealed that 25% of its recent mortgages were granted to families headed by a person 50 or older. One loan was granted to a man older than 75.

As mentioned before, the economic age of the property, its resale value, and the borrower's ability to repay the loan are far more important than age alone.

Sewer For Digital Is Approved

To service Digital Corp. in the West Andover Tech Park, a permanent sewer line will be located off the Hewlett-Packard property, replacing a temporary connection that was established to serve Polaroid and Valle's Restaurant.

Digital now plans to develop the parcel originally purchased by Polaroid.

The selectmen, sitting as sewer commissioners, approved the sewer relocation plan Monday night at the recommendation of Director of Public Works Robert McQuade.

The relocation plan follows the master sewer plan approved by the selectmen last March, McQuade said, and meets all town standards as well.

The sewer line will run along land owned by Arkwright-Boston Insurance, developers of the industrial park, and will run into an existing manhole, McQuade said.

He explained that the temporary connection was established only "to get through the initial stages" of development of the Digital land.

Water For Firefighting Is Donated

The town will not bill Tewksbury for 280,000 gallons of water given to help fight a fire there in late June, the selectmen voted Monday night.

Andover originally intended to bill the neighboring town something less than $100 for the emergency water. The town periodically sells water to Tewksbury "on an emergency basis," the town manager told the selectmen.

However, Tewksbury requested that the water used to fight the June fire be considered part of the two town's mutual aid agreement, Manager Jared S. A. Clark said.

The selectmen voted three to two to honor that request, with Selectmen Edward Harris and Chairman James Abramson voting against giving the water o Tewksbury.

Dean's List At URI

Ten Andover students have been named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at the University of Rhode Island, Kingston.

They are: Richard J. Collins, 5 Launching Road; Eric G. Dow, 19 Strawberry Hill; Patricia A. Gingras, 240 River Road; Susan Lindholm, 44 Chestnut St.; William F. Lucey, 2 Napier Road; Madeline A. Marad, 81 Morton St.; Beth E. Moynihan, 15 Geneva Road; Paul A. Oskar, 24 Johnson Road; Sandra R. Rigazio, 21 Blood Road and Cheryl A. Webb, 19 Smithshire Estates.
